Flickering Lamps Christ and His Church

Any book that has a Blackaby as it's author is a must read for me, FLICKERING LAMPS is certainly no exception. I was blessed beyond measure so many times while reading this very important work of Doctors Henry & Richard Blackaby

God is using this book and message from the 7 churches in Revelation in a mighty way in our small community. It is an easy-read but one has to stop quite often and reflect-making personal applications. Very convicting-helping churches reflect on whether they are "doing church" their way or God's way.

May be the best book I read this year....

Flickering Lamps is a well written account of Henry Blackaby's experience in church revitalization. This is highly recommended for reading with your church leaders and even members of the congregation.

If you like what the black amuse right when Experiencing God you will like this book it reviews and a short synopsis they're Experiencing God book. I have given it to others who I know have little time but need to hear the message that you can know what God says

Fantastic book on practical steps toward church renewal and revitalization

"One of the great deceptions many churches believe is that they don't need to make any changes." p 109. Dear pastor, make a change, adjust your time and read this book, TODAY! The Blackaby's masterfully weave the first few chapters of Revelation, together with Henry's frontier experiences, and Richard's powerful applications to confront us with what God says to the Church. For a small, struggling church there is encouragement, biblical truth, and experiential direction. For the large seemingly successful church, a reminder that success can be dangerous for the church if relationship is neglected, or subordinated to the ways of the world. Having served four years as a Bi-Vo pastor, dear Bi-vocational Pastor, this book is also for you! The discussion on Revelation 3:20 is a great inspiration, as we are reminded that Christ is knocking on the door/heart of the church...He just wants in His Church! "When Christ is exalted nothing else matters!"
