Revolutionary Mothering: Love On The Front Lines

Synopsis

An anthology that gives access to the voices of mothers of color and marginalized mothers

Revolutionary Mothering: Love on the Frontlines is an anthology that centers mothers of color and marginalized mothers' voices—women who are in a world of necessary transformation. The challenges faced by movements working for antiviolence, anti-imperialist, and queer liberation, as well as racial, economic, reproductive, gender, and food justice are the same challenges that marginalized mothers face every day. Motivated to create spaces for this discourse because of the authors' passionate belief in the power of a radical conversation about mothering, they have become the go-to people for cutting-edge inspired work on this topic for an overlapping committed audience of activists, scholars, and writers. Revolutionary Mothering is a movement-shifting anthology committed to birthing new worlds, full of faith and hope for what we can raise up together. Contributors include alba onofrio, Alexis Pauline Gumbs, Ariel Gore, Arielle Julia Brown, Autumn Brown, Cheryl Boyce-Taylor, China Martens, Christy NaMee Eriksen, Claire Barrera, Cynthia Dewi Oka, Esteli Juarez Boyd, Fabielle Georges, Fabiola Sandoval, Gabriela Sandoval, H. ## Customer Reviews

"This book is a necessary reminder that beyond the headlines, position papers, and generalizations made about mothers are voices from the front lines that we all need to hear." •Dani McClain, The Nation"In times like these, Revolutionary Mothering: Love on the Front Lines teaches me that hope, love and change are always possible." •Cantrice Janelle Penn, blackgirldangerous.org"Revolutionary Mothering is a dreambook. Place it on your bedstand and when you awaken, scribble your not-quite-daylight visions in the margins so your dreams will be in good company. With its protean take on mothering, expect to pick up a new book each time you open it." •Almah LaVon, novelniche.net"Revolutionary Mothering translates fervor into art and, ultimately, as its epigraph suggests, reminds us that 'mothering is love by any means necessary.'•Danielle Price, Herizons

Alexis Pauline Gumbs was named one of UTNE Reader's 50 Visionaries Transforming the World in 2009, a Reproductive Reality Check Sherpa, a Black Woman Rising nominee in 2010, and was awarded one of the first-ever Too Sexy for 501c3 trophies in 2011. She is a cocreator of the MobileHomecoming experiential archive and documentary project, which has been featured in Curve Magazine, the Huffington Post, in Durham Magazine, and on NPR. She lives in Durham, North Carolina. China Martens is the author of The Future Generation: The Zine-book for Subculture Parents, Kids, Friends and Others, and coeditor of Don't Leave Your Friends Behind: Concrete Ways to Support Families in Social Justice Movements and Communities. She was a cofounder of Kidz City, a radical child care collective in Baltimore (2009–2013). She lives in Baltimore, Maryland. Maiâ Williams is the creator and director of Water Studio which supports and cocreates with underground community artists and revolutionaries in Cairo, Egypt. Her essays, short stories, and poetry have appeared in publications such as make-shift, Mamaphiles, Popshot, and Woman's Work. She is the instigator of the Outlaw Midwives movement, zines, and blog, and is the author of the anthology Revolutionary Motherhood, which became the inspiration for Revolutionary Mothering.

I was surprised how much I got out of this book being neither a person of color or a mother of any biological children. Far reaching and thought provoking.

Fierce and poignant--i love every word of this beautifully crafted book

This book is a true gem for radical mothers like myself. Each essay offers a different perspective of what revolutionary mothering entails. I am so grateful that this text exists!

Mothers carry America on their backs and it is time all their glorious radical love got recognized. A must-read. I am buying it for my friends.

Important read for anyone interested in how mothers of color navigate a world of both hope and obstacles. These perspectives are fresh and beautifully rendered.

Great book for people with or without children. Truly a balance between radical and mainstream parenting.

Great read!! Still digesting all of it!

great price fast service
